Feb. 11th | CCLR Holds Brownfield Redevelopment Workshop | Oakland, CA

On February 11th, CCLR held an introductory course on brownfield redevelopment at the Oakland California Endowment Center. Almost one hundred attendees representing California's government agencies, developers, non-profits, and greater community gained valuable insight into brownfield redevelopment issues. This half-day course focused on the nuts-and-bolts of redeveloping environmentally challenged property covered the regulatory and legal framework, the environmental cleanup process, and potential funding sources for brownfield redevelopment projects. A huge thank you goes out to our speakers who volunteered their time and expertise and made the event possible AND many thanks to everybody who attended the workshop and made it the success that it was.
